PRESIDENT'S COLUMN-November 2011

Your chapter has virtually reinvented itself since the inception of our annual educational conference in 2004. Due to the hard work of your officers and conference committee members, and the commitment of the membership itself by participating in our meetings and training events, your organization in 2011 bears little resemblance to that of 2004.

You are better informed, better trained, and better equipped to confront the increasing sophistication of the code enforcement officer's role in our respective communities than ever before. Not only are you expected to understand and apply construction and fire codes in the traditional manner, you are now expected to intervene and control neighborhood or so called "Quality of Life" problems as discussed in last month's column.

Having the most current information and resources available to you is the primary mission of the chapter. To that end, our website will become the focal point for chapter business and the newsletter will be discontinued. Information usually found in the newsletter will now be found exclusively on the website (nysboc.com). I suggest that you look at the website at least once a week to stay abreast of chapter news and events.

We extend congratulations to Rob Drexler for his election to the Board of Directors and to Ron Piester for his election as Vice President at the ICC Annual Business Meeting (ABM) in Phoenix, Arizona. Rob's election affirms New York's status as a major player in the ICC and he, along with Ron, will continue to represent our state with integrity and dedication.

Respectfully submitted,

Neal J. Smith, President
